Joining a Committee at San Diego City College: How does it work?

Article 7.4.3 of the faculty contract states that faculty are expected to serve on a minimum of 1 district or college committee. Information on college and/or district committees are available in the Campus Staff Handbook, the Academic Senate By-Laws (on senate website) and in the district Administration & Governance Handbook.

Faculty need to be proactive in finding committee assignments. One good way to begin is to talk to your colleagues about the committees on which they serve, review governance publications and the college and district websites, review the Senate committee list of faculty appointments (on the Senate website). Once you find a committee you are interested in contact the chair of the committee listed on the list to find out about the committee charge, meeting times and the requirements of committee members. Some committees have restricted #s of faculty to maintain equitable representation for staff, faculty and administrators.

Unless otherwise designated in the charge the appointment to committees is for two-years with automatic re-appointment until the member contacts the chair of the committee and resigns the position, or other faculty members are interested in serving. If you are interested in serving on a committee with limited membership, or you are told there is no space please let the Chair of the Committee on Committees (C on C). If the end of the term for current members is approaching additions may be made. And, if there are no limits the C on C Chair can advocate for your inclusion.

Committee Chairs are asked to update their committee lists for the Senate each year. At any time they may contact the C on C for help in recruitment for their committee.

Hiring Committees

Departments develop their own hiring committee membership. Campus-wide positions require Senate appointees Chairs of hiring committees may provide a suggested list of faculty members to the C on C for their departments. After discussion and effort to ensure diverse representation they are officially appointed by the Senate Committee on Committees.

Senate Executive Committee

There are some committees with membership specifically reserved for members of the Senate Executive Committee. The way to participate in these committees is to get elected by your colleagues to the Executive Committee.
