Documentary: Selma and the Voting Rights Act of 1965

Office of Student Affairs

To raise awareness of how the Voting Rights Act of 1965 came to pass legislation and what sacrifices and struggles the Black people and their allies experienced to get this legislation passed into law by President Johnson so all citizens of the U.S. to have the right to vote. And, on June 25, 2013, the Supreme Court struck down the section of the Voting Rights Act, which was a major part of the landmark ban on voter discrimination and an enormous set back. However, On July 22, 2020, forty-eight senators introduced legislation and named the new bill after civil rights icon, John Lewis: The "John Lewis Voting Rights Advancement Act". It is currently awaiting the Senate Majority leader to bring it to a vote.
